W E L C O M E

Hi..
I am Neo

I am a highly talented, driven individual who has the ability to prove themselves and can deliver innovative solutions. A proven ability to develop projects from inception through to production ensuring that all work is effective, appropriate and delivered within agreed deadlines. Able to work as part of a team.

Over the years I have been in school, I have seen many examples of great leadership. What separates the truly successful from the rest is a higher level of contribution towards the organization's most important goal.

We grow our creative talents through experience: whether it's learning from a veteran designer about how things came to be or finding fresh delight in Smashing Magazine posts, no great artist exists without inspiration. Famously declared in reference to scientific progress: "If I have seen further it is by standing on the shoulders of Giants", said Isaac Newton.

Warm Regard

CORPORATE LOGO
BRANDING
MOCKUP

Description

A logo is a symbol or design used to identify a company or organization, as well as its products, services, employees, etc.

In its simplest definition, a logo identifies. It's how your company is recognized and remembered among others. It also functions as the face of your business.

Your logo can also be an opportunity to make a statement about your organization. Take Amazon's, for example. The smiley arrow communicates that the company sells everything from "A-Z" and also represents how happy customers are when they shop with them.

WEBSITE TEMPLATE
DEVELOPMENT
CORPORATE IDENTITY

Mar - 2022

Description

Web design is a Web development process for creating a website that focuses on aesthetic factors like layout, user interface and other visual imagery in order to make the website more visually appealing and easy to use. Web design makes use of various programs and tools in order to achieve the intended look, such as Dreamweaver, Photoshop and many others. In order to create a winning design, Web designers need to think about their audience, the purpose of the website and the visual appeal of the design.

Most websites are created by using a coded language called Hypertext Markup Language (HTML). In order for a website to be successfully displayed on the client browser, it needs to follow the rules of this language. HTML tags identify the website's content for every page. Cascading Style Sheets (CSS) is then used to define the overall visual appearance of each page. The result is based on the combination of these elements. Hand coding can be taxing for some designers so some opt to use programs like Adobe Dreamweaver.

BRANDING
MOCKUP

Description

A mobile user interface, or mobile UI, is the display or screen on a mobile device. It's the space where users can interact with what's on the screen – from menu buttons to text fields (and everything in between, depending on whether users can tap, scroll, swipe, type, or just see it).

Most of these user interactions are touch-based and happen on colorful touch screen displays that are bursting with high-level interactions. Naturally, basic mobile UI design principles differ from those of a traditional desktop UI. After all, users are, by definition, on the move; control is limited, giving new meaning to the phrase 'all thumbs'. Actions and information need to be big, bold, clear, and simple.

NAME PROJECT

ITSA MOBILE APP

ITSA Mobile application the one stop shop for utility vending you can pay your utilities on the app manage your payments.

NAME PROJECT

ITSA

As mobile adoption continues to rise year-by-year, it's time to develop a mobile-first strategy, embraced by the likes of Facebook or other social networks, who make sure their iOS and Android apps offer a polished user experience on hand-held devices.

After all, when users have more choice and freedom to find mobile applications that work for them, a poor user experience can easily devalue your brand, hurt your revenue, and disengage your users.

UNIFORMITY IS KEY

Your designs should be consistent across the board, from buttons and icons to brand colors.

Visit Amazon on your mobile. It's a masterclass in consistency for mobile app UI design. Every design aspect is uniform, from the color palette to page layout, whether you're buying a new microwave oven or a second-hand book.

This isn't just because it's pleasing to the eye. It's about helping users familiarize themselves with the app, so that eventually, they won't even need to think about what they're doing. Every action will be intuitive and engaging.

To ensure uniformity, you might find it useful to add a mobile UI kit to your design system.

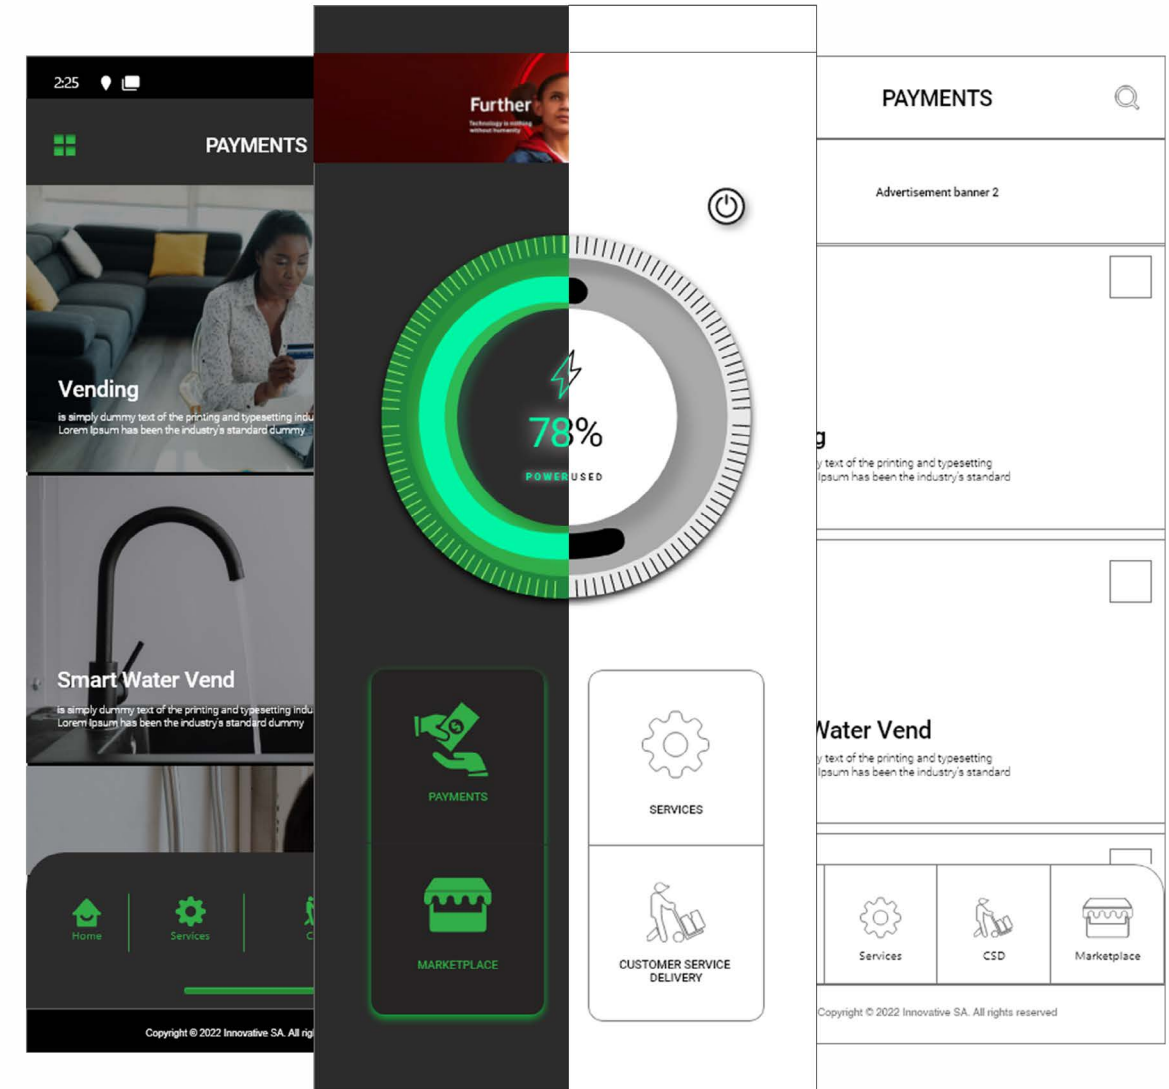

Be specific where necessary. For example, are all your call-to-action buttons in a particular color? Must certain fonts be used or avoided? Ask yourself those questions before you need to answer them.

MAKE SURE YOUR SPLASH SCREEN IS FLAWLESS

A splash screen should grab the user's attention – and fast. While your app boots up in the background, you can use your splash screen to engage your users. Because, let's face it, in the age of instant-everything, no one wants to sit, wait, and do nothing.

Eye-catching illustrations. Unmissable headlines. Brand promotion. User tips. These can all keep users engaged and stop them from quitting and uninstalling at the first hurdle. Consider adding a progress bar, especially if your app takes a while to load. Users like to know something is happening.

Description

A corporate identity or corporate image is the manner in which a corporation, firm or business enterprise presents itself to the public. The corporate identity is typically visualized by branding and with the use of trademarks, but it can also include things like product design, advertising, public relations etc.

What is corporate identity?

One of the most commonly misunderstood terms in business is corporate identity. Many people conflate the term with logos or mistakenly think it only applies to sectors such as banking, legal, or technology. However, corporate identity (also known as company identity or company id) is essential to the success of all brands, irrelevant of size or industry.
